

Invitation to Actuarial Courses at Salzburg University

The Salzburg Institute of Actuarial Studies offers international actuarial courses addressing persons who have completed mathematical studies at university (or an equivalent institution) and intend to become actuaries. The courses are taught in English.

Eight courses, namely

- Life Insurance Mathematics
- Health Insurance Mathematics
- Mathematics of Pension Plans
- Statistical Methods in Insurance: Advanced Tools
- Statistical Methods in Insurance: Applications
- Non-Life Insurance Mathematics
- Mathematics of Finance
- Actuarial Modelling

comprise all the actuarial topics that are required to become a fully qualified actuary

- according to the core syllabus of the International Actuarial Association and the core syllabus of Groupe Consultatif
- according to the regulations of the Actuarial Association of Austria (AVÖ)
- according to the regulations of the German Actuarial Association (DAV).

The German regulations have just been revised; all courses are in full accordance with the new German requirements.

Each course may be attended separately, and each course can be completed with a separate exam. The courses are open to everybody. In particular, the courses on statistical methods in insurance are also of interest to experienced practitioners.

During the next four semesters the courses will take place in the following order:

Summer semester 2006:	Statistical Methods in Insurance: Applications Health Insurance Mathematics
Winter semester 2006/2007:	Mathematics of Finance Non-Life Insurance Mathematics
Summer semester 2007:	Mathematics of Pension Plans Actuarial Modelling
Winter semester 2007/2008:	Statistical Methods in Insurance: Advanced Tools Life Insurance Mathematics

For detailed information on the two courses in the summer semester 2006 please see the enclosed invitations to these courses.

Courses providing the requirements in accounting, economics and law are offered by the Salzburg Institute of Actuarial Studies in German. In the summer semester 2006 a course on accounting is planned for the three weekends 5th/6th May, 19th/20th May and 2nd/3rd June.

Further information: Sarah Lederer
Salzburg Institute of Actuarial Studies
Salzburg University
A-5020 Salzburg, Hellbrunner Straße 34
Tel.: +43 662 8044 5300, Fax: +43 662 8044 155
E-Mail: sarah.lederer@sbg.ac.at
Homepage: www.sias.at (under construction)

The Salzburg Institute of Actuarial Studies is a joint venture of Salzburg University and Wüstenrot Insurance Company, Salzburg. The courses take place at Salzburg University and are organized in cooperation with the Aktuarvereinigung Österreichs (Actuarial Association of Austria) and the Österreichische Gesellschaft für Versicherungsfachwissen (the educational institute of the Austrian Association of Insurance Companies).